I just... find my favorite songs and bring them here if some of them are deleted try using the Wayback Machine some of them are very important to me they give me a feeling of nostalgia so I decided to save the link of this playlist in Microsoft Word and also save the playlist in the wayback machine so I'll never see them get deleted or turn private because that's a painful thing to look at your own past dying in front of your own eyes knowing that one day you'll be just like the videos saved in this playlist... gone and forgotten, it especially pains me to not even be able to remember some of them I have to save every video in it to the wayback machine to actually save the videos I can't do that alone so if someone reads this and helps me save these individual videos in the wayback machine I'd appreciate it you don't need to do all of them just one or two random videos would be enough if you're reading this I'm happy that you are because that shows that you do care about what I'm saying now I'm thinking: could you imagine me being dead for the last 20 years and someone reading this? then copy pasting the link of this playlist to the wayback machine and then seeing a partial part of what I used to see? yes this popped into my mind after seeing a meme of a person looking back to an old playlist and instead of seeing the videos as he expected to he saw all of them in a deleted form (future Sab here, yes I got reminded of it, thanks past me) And yes I added Minecraft: "Storymode - Fight Song" because that was the only video I remember in my old "my favorite songs 2" playlist from my old channel that got erased along with the playlist because it was my school account. I'll miss the videos I uploaded there which I don't have saved and the playlists that I've made along with them I'm saying that so that people will know it even if it's just a meaningless information I still think it's important to save any information you get for either your future self to find out and remember or just keeping history of something even like a playlist of songs I know most of them are going to be here to stay but everything has an expiration date which includes youtube so... for all I know it's all gone now I just hope people will find more notes of people telling their stories in the most unexpected places have a nice trip
